DENY GIRL SLAYER IS HELD

ROUGH WEATHER HALTS DIVING FOR CREW IN UNDERSEA BOAT

Navy Fears Men in Steel Hulk are Doomed. WINDS STRONG 6 O'clock Tonight is Deadline for Rescue.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A driving gale drove the heroic rescue fleet from the scene of the S-4 disaster into the shelter of the Provincetown harbor shortly before noon today, the navy was advised in a message from Admiral Frank H. Brumby, in command of the 26 vessels which have fought desperately against overwhelming odds to save the lives of the imprisoned crew.

Today The Lost Submarine. A Self-Approving Hour. A Cosmic Eye. Mothers Have Done It.

THE United States submarine S-4, lost off the Massachusetts coast on Saturday afternoon, was instantly rammed and sunk by the destroyer Paulding No. 17. The short length of periscope bringing the submarine dangerously near the surface before making a sur-y of surface conditions possibly may be one explanation. Carelessness in periscope use might be another.

IN ANY case our submarine service, necessarily dangerous in war, seems to be unnecessarily dangerous in peace. Could not a submarine in peace time send to the surface before rising a harmless detonation bomb to explode and send a warning cloud of smoke at the surface just ahead of the submarine's appearance?

ONE self-approving hour is a valuable asset. A life-time of such hours must be amazingly pleasant. The postman handed to D'Annunzio a letter addressed to the greatest poet in Italy. It's not for me, said the brilliant Italian, otherwise it would have been addressed to the greatest poet in the world. Even that would not be saying much, as there is no second, or even third-rate poet now living.

D'ANNUNZIO, disliking the banal, says he means to be buried in the ocean. "The sea is the sepulchre that I want and shall have."

A crematory fire makes a better grave. In the sea the body swells and becomes hideous, abhorrent to a poet. Little fishes nibble at it or octopuses seize upon it. To go up in smoke through a chimney, sail around in the sunshine as second for awhile, then fall as fertilizer, is the least unpleasant plan.

LOS ANGELES POLICE SEEK WOMAN AS AIDE OF MURDERER

Killer, Identified, Buys Gas as Hunt Goes on.

"FOX" DEFIANT Claim 18-year-old Bank Messenger Slew Child.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—Chief of Detectives Herman Cline today declared he had no knowledge of the rumored capture of William Edward Hickman as the suspected slayer of little Marion Parker, in discrediting reports the kidnaper-killer had been caught when he returned here to abduct the twin sister of the murdered girl.

"Find the woman!" This was the word broadcast by police today as they sought a woman and another suspected accomplice of Hickman, discharged bank messenger and identified as the kidnaper and killer.

Slayer in Los Angeles. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—"The Fox" murderer of little Marion Parker, still is in Los Angeles.

At 4:25 o'clock this morning the kidnaper-slayer, police are positive, was within 50 yards of the Central police station.

Eludes Pursuer. This startling information was supplied by Jack Ward, a filling station attendant, who supplied "The Fox" with gasoline and then pursued him a dozen blocks.

Ward identified the man he had vainly sought to capture as William Edward Hickman, 18-year-old former bank messenger whom the police earlier had declared to be the murderer of the Parker girl. The youth was discharged from the institution where the little girl's father is a trusted official.

The disclosure was made by Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and Chief Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis, who directly declared the fugitive youth had been identified as the kidnaper-murder of the 12-year-old school girl.

Revenge Was Motive. Revenge, not the pittance of a $1,500 ransom, was the ascribed motive for the horrible crime, officials making the flat statement that Perry M. Parker, Marion's father alone had opposed probation for young Hickman at the time he was dismissed from the bank after confessing to forgery.

"When William Edward Hickman is arrested, either in California or any other state," was the public statement

CHAPTER XXII.

Their eyes met and held. And, to spare her pain, Bruce Richardson lied.

"I don't know."

"But you think—"

"I have no right to think. I only know that Todd Shannon was his one friend during those three years in the penitentiary. Shannon is out, and the girl is his niece. He's bound to see a good deal of her because of that relationship."

She voiced a question without meeting his eyes.

"Is she—do you know—decent?"

"Yes!" He spoke suddenly and positively, then his voice became gentle again. "At least, I understand that she is. "But what people say about her—and Carmody: what of that?"

"Lies, I believe. Whether Carmody is interested in her—I don't know. But I don't believe that there ever has been—or ever will be—an affair between them."

"Then there'd be nothing to keep them—the Shannon girl and Bob—apart, if they cared?"

"No-o. Except they aren't the same type."

"Are you sure of that? Before the thing happened—Bob was of a class—well, like she is. I don't mean to sound snobbish, but he didn't move with our crowd—you understand."

"Certainly, Lois." He touched her and gently. "You are very fond of Bob Terry, aren't you?"

"Yes." She answered frankly—but without regard to the possible effect of her words on the thin-faced young man. "You don't know what a comfort you are to me, Bruce. I can talk to you. You always understand. And things like this when I must talk—"

"Just you talk it out with me any time, Lois. And I guess I'll always be here when you want to talk things over."

She smiled gratefully and covered his hand with hers.

"You're a great buddy, Bruce. I wish you knew what you really mean to me."

She did not see the spasm of pain which crossed his delicate face.

"And I wish you knew, Lois—what you really mean to me."

Peter Borden was not blind—and because of that he permitted himself to worry.

The immaculate little man with the precise mind and unswerving sense of honor had seen the development of the interest between his daughter and the young man who had been taken into their home.

Peter Borden knew his daughter.

There was much of him in her, and more of her mother, and Borden had known every twist and quirk of his wife's brain and emotions.

It therefore did not surprise him to see that from the first Lois wove a great romance about the tragic, stooping figure of Bob Terry. He was pathetic and he did need sympathy and kindness and mothering. It was only natural that a girl—young and impressionable and always sheltered from the harsher phases of life—should fall under the romantic spell. Bob Terry, fine minded as he was, was yet not of their caste, and so, until matters had progressed too far, Borden did not sense that Lois' interest had transcended the impersonal and taken unto itself a depth which now had to be faced as a fact.

There were three phases to the condition which brought little wrinkles of worry to the corners of Borden's eyes. One was that he doubted the depth of his daughter's love for Bob Terry. That she thought she was in love with the young man, he knew. But he doubted if she really was. Now, Bob was possessed of a halo—she dramatized every look and move and action; he was a starkly heroic figure in her eyes. Above all, it was certain that she did not see him clearly. She saw only the pathetic side and could not see him as he was: a young man of great possibilities for good; of certain ability but with the strength and weaknesses of an average human being.

It was a fact that Peter Borden considered that Terry was not good enough for his daughter; he was fearful that she did not know Terry, the man. She only knew him as she imagined he was. And that fact brought to Borden's mind the third possibility. Suppose Bob was as bitter as he thought—and suppose the boy attacked him through Lois? Peter Borden shuddered.

Tonight Bob had dined at home and then gone from the table to his room. Borden moved into the library for his evening cigar and Lois followed. For a few minutes he moved restlessly about the room, a slim, straight figure of white and gold, then, without a word, she came and seated herself on the arm of his chair.

Borden reached up and took his daughter's hand. This was the opportunity for which he had prayed—and which he dared not create for himself. His voice, freighted with understanding and sympathy, came softly to her ears.

"Worried, dear?"

"Yes, Dad."

"Bob?"

"I think so."

"Why?"

She hesitated before answering. And then— "Why didn't he let you help him, Dad?"

"Instead of going to work for Carmody?"

"Yes."

A vertical furrow appeared between Borden's eyes. "Perhaps it was just as well."

"Why?"

"Bob has never forgiven me, Lois." "No-o. He hasn't. But he doesn't know you—and the only way he could have known you would have been to have gone to work for you. The daily contact—"

"He's had that here."

"No, Dad. He hasn't and you know it. He has lived under this roof and eaten some of his meals here, but he hasn't known you. I get shuddery sometimes looking at him—and thinking. It is almost as though he hated you—and was staying here for a purpose."

Borden sighed. "Perhaps. I cannot object to anything he may think or do. I wrecked that young man, Lois. No use evading the fact. I did it from conscientious motives, but that didn't make the blow to him any less terrible. And so, whatever he is now—whatever he may be—is my fault. I can only make what reparation he will permit me, and do my best to provide for his future."

The slim white arm tightened about the old man's neck. "Dear old Dad. You understand things almost too well for your own happiness. What a pity that Bob cannot know you. He thinks you are hard and cold."

"He has every reason to think that."

"Of course. But the Carmody thing—"

"Bob was probably pretty sensitive about coming back to work for the company where his trouble started. Pride—and all that sort of thing."

"No-o." She shook her head. "It isn't that, Dad—else he would never have come here to live, or accepted money and clothes and food from you. There's something else behind it. And since he went to work for Carmody—you've noticed the change, haven't you?"

"Yes. He has improved tremendously. The reawakening of his self-respect, I'd call it."

"He could do so much for himself—and is doing so little. He frightens me."

"Don't be silly, Lois. He'll make out very well I'm sure. He's got the real stuff, but it is overlaid with bitterness and with memories which are like gall. People do stare at him curiously, but not so much as he thinks. And I judge that he loathes pity. The back trail for him is going to be long and hard—and we must be patient. I only hope that I can do for him what I want."

She saw the lines of worry. Instantly her own problem was forgotten in her love for her father.

"Something wrong, Dad?"

"Nothing in particular."

"What?" she demanded.

"Oh—business."

"Really wrong?"

"Just what we call an acute crisis. Our creditors—the banks from whom we have borrowed—are calling in some of the loans. We saw ourselves through one major crisis when we moved into the new plant. Now we're facing a more vital one. And Jones Merriweather is very difficult to handle."

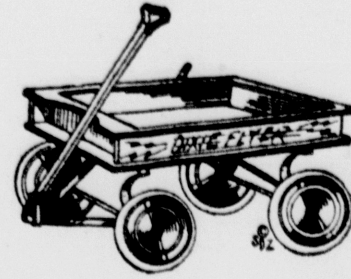

"Explain it to me, Dad."

"There's no need. But we're in this position; we must again borrow from ourselves. That is, the corporation must borrow from the individuals, because the banks won't lend us any more money. In two years everything will be in perfect condition, but most of us are in up to the hilt already; there has been a succession of troubles, and Jones is the only man with enough private cash available to see us through. And he is talking. If he refuses finally, I don't know what we'll do. He is a

The Christmas Comet

The Northern Hemisphere is having a celestial visitor. It is Skjellerup's comet, which is now visible to the naked eye. It will stay with our range of vision for the Christmas holidays.

It is said to be the brightest comet visible in this part of the world in 15 years. It will be seen in the early evening sky between the sun and the North Pole.

Here is an interesting Christmas gift for all of us. If we take time to go outdoors and scan the sky for this fine comet, we may find out how very beautiful the winter sky is, how brilliantly the stars shine and how wonderful is the darkness of the winter night.

Too much of the time we let our roofs hide the beauties of the sky from us and use our windows chiefly as a framework for handsome draperies. We cannot get along without the shelter and protection of the roofs, but we could, much more than we do, go out from under them and look at nature.

Gifts For Children

The December bulletin of the National Child Labor committee bears a picture of a community Christmas tree on its front page. Round the tree small boys and girls are crowding with eager interest. On the tree are hung the usual trimmings plus a few wonderful presents. A list of the gifts is worth thinking about. There are:

- A lovely clock labeled "Eight-hour day";
- A fine school building labeled "Eighth Grade School Diploma";
- A calendar labeled "Six Day Week";
- Scales such as stand in doctors' offices for weighing patients, labeled "Physical Fitness";
- A signed and sealed document guaranteeing "Protection from Damaging Machines."

We only wish there might be a real distribution of such presents for every victim of child labor. The gifts on the pictured tree represent minimum standards for the protection of children in gainful employment. Unfortunately there are still many children in this fair and prosperous land who have never had these simple gifts that ought to be the prized possession of every boy and girl.

Lowell, Then And Now

James Russell Lowell, a few years after the Civil war, told how, perusing a newspaper, he

"Read of public scandal, private fraud,
Crime flaunting scot-free while the mob applaud,
Office made vile to bribe unworthiness,
And all the unwholesomeness,
The land of Honest Abraham serves of late—
To teach the Old World how to wait!"

What would he write if he were living today?

Conditions, surely, are not so bad now. Business life is much cleaner. Political life, too, is cleaner, though less progress has been made there. There are some phases of our public life that most of us would rather not discuss. As for "crime flaunting scot-free," there is probably more of that than ever before in our history.

Well-meaning Pollyannas would do well if, instead of bragging about American pre-eminence in virtue, they would turn to and help clean up the bad spots.

Service And Poetry

Book ends may soon become a necessary part of the equipment of every hotel guest room. This thought is prompted by the news that the head of a good-sized chain of hotels, has had a 430-page book of poems placed in every guest room throughout the system. The Gideons' Bible no longer is alone on the table with the reading lamp.

The manager of one of these hotels reports that countless letters have been received from patrons expressing appreciation and gratitude for those books of poems. The letters have come from men as well as women, and from persons in all walks of life.

This is an interesting revelation. One wouldn't have guessed that the traveling public cared much about poetry in hotels. An outside room with bath and on the quiet side of the building are the usual specifications for the average traveler. Now, however, if he happens upon a room without poetry, a guest is likely to ring for a book of household verse along with his ice water and an extra blanket.

Better Tomatoes

While taking note of modern progress, don't overlook the tomato. That humble vegetable, or fruit, or whatever it is, has already gained much in size, flavor and all-round excellence since it changed from a merely ornamental "love apple" into something good to eat. But now a greenhouse man in Newton, Kan., claims to have developed a seedless tomato. Tomato seeds have been receding for years. They are not very objectionable, yet a tomato is better without them.

More remarkable still is the fact that the new tomato is not an annual. Its producer says he has a vine five years old and 37 feet long. Some of its tomatoes, by the way, weigh four pounds. We seem destined to have tomatoe trees, bearing not only year after year, but all the year round.

Anyway it's reassuring, in this lavish age, that some people in Washington are able to get excited about saving money.

Famiyl Stuff—Brother Willie's Inspiration—

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—New York can no longer boast of showy vice dens as those which flourished 25 years ago—such as Billy McGilroy's, Paresis Hall, the French Madame's, the Haymarket, The Doctor's and McGilroy's Suicide Hall. All have gone before the broom of reform.

Harlem has a few cellar haunts of black-and-tan mixture where gin and "snow" perk up the jaded, but these are known only to the initiated slummers. The lower East Side also maintains a few dingy speakeasies where they "roll a lush"—that is a drunk on customer.

But the days of hell-roaring wickedness have spent themselves. Scarlet ladies rarely patrol the pavements. What vice is left for public display is gilded. It flourishes in the tapes of elegance of night clubs and grand apartment houses, cheek by jowl with respectability.

Nor has New York any celebrated bad men left, such as those illustrious slugs—Brian Boru, Skinner Meehan, Hop-Along Peter and John Allen, who was for many years headlined as the wickedest man in the city. The rat-faced little gangsters with pistol silencers supplanted them.

The toughs of other days boasted of their prowess—they chewed off ears and fingered—and preserved them in alcohol as trophies. The modern type has a patent leather finish. He hides behind a cloak of respectability encompassed in manicured nails and hair slick.

There were many streets in the city, especially along the water-fronts, where the well-dressed stranger was almost certain to be done away with. He was, in the picturesque argot, "ash-panned." A bucket of ashes would descend upon him from an upstairs window.

And before he recovered from his surprise he was pounced upon, robbed and murdered and his body likely deposited in the sewers. Today New York is so efficiently policed there is scarcely a mean-looking street that is not as safe as Times Square at noon.

Practical jokes are always dangerous. The latest concerns a victim whose friends arranged a plot with a Women kin certainly got a lot done when they set their minds to it. A young Perry, O., wife beat her husband to death with a table leg, drove to Cleveland, found a parking place, attended a bridge party, got a sticker, remained over night with friends, and done her Christmas shopping, all in something less than ten hours.

It must have been hard to be put out of house and home before we all had closed cars.

Aunt Sammy's Success.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—When, a little over a year ago, the department of agriculture began broadcasting radio programs of special interest to housewives and created the character of Aunt Sammy as a helpmate for Uncle Sam, it was stated that the innovation was an experiment and that Aunt Sammy lived to a ripe old age or was cut off early in her career would depend upon the reception accorded her work. After fifteen months Aunt Sammy is still with us and going strong. She rates a whole of a success in governmental circles.

Her first Housekeepers' Chats were broadcast by some 40 or 45 stations in various parts of the country. At the latest report, 77 stations were featuring this service. The stations cover 36 states and the District of Columbia.

On a recent occasion when 33 stations were hooked up in broadcasting a musical feature of national interest it was estimated that there was a potential audience of 30,000,000 people. How large is Aunt Sammy's potential audience when she speaks through more than twice that number of stations? It is not contended, of course, that there is the widespread tense interest in her programs that there would be in an address by the president of the United States or in a ringside descriptive story of the Tunney-Dempsey prize fight, but there is abundant evidence that in ville, Fla. He is to be sent from that place to Newport News, Va., where he expects to take a new course in instruction.

The engagement of Miss Lois Fogo and William Henry Fogo, both of Wellsboro, was announced by the bride's twin sister, Miss Leah Fogo, whose engagement to Roy Irwin Farmer of New Haven, Conn., has also been announced.

Ten persons were killed and 70 injured by German aeroplanes that attacked London last night, it was officially announced today.

John Pollock of Sixth street has returned from a several weeks' visit in Cleveland.

TEN YEARS AGO.

December 20, 1917.

Sergeant Harlan Finley, recently transferred from Company A, 134th Machine Gun Battalion, to the finance department quartermaster's corps at Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala., who has been visiting local friends and relatives, left yesterday under special order to report at Jackson-the compar- ly short time since she began th work she has reached directly more people than any feature of the government service ever instituted.

For instance, over 100,000 copies of "Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes" have been distributed in response to individual requests since October 15 last and it has been found necessary to order a second edition already. This cook book is supplied free to any woman who will send her name and address to the radio station from which she hears Aunt Sammy's talks. One station forward more than 600 names in one week. Bulk distribution is not absolutely denied, but it is frowned upon, as the congressman discovered who sent in a request for several thousand copies that he wanted to send to his feminine constituents.

Needed in the Flood Area.

An exception was made, however, when a representative of the department's extension service in Vermont forwarded an urgent call for 1,000 copies to be distributed in the flooded areas of that state. He explained that many of the housewives there had lost their cook books in the flood and were appealing to the government for help in the emergency.

The cook book contains 70 menus and approximately 300 tested recipes, and is indexed so that it may be consulted quickly and to the best advantage.

Aunt Sammy's radio chats are written in an informal, refreshing style, and contain brief discussions of such important phases of housekeeping as meal-planning, marketing, cooking, canning, establishing food habits in children, sewing, home furnishing, decoration, gardening, and the like. Questions of general interest to housewives are answered, and new and timely menus and recipes from the bureau of Home Economics are given from week to week.

The chats are broadcast every day in the week except Saturday and Sunday. Recently numerous requests have been received from women in New York City who work during the day that the chats be broadcast in the evening when they can have an opportunity to hear them. This may be arranged, but it is up to the broadcasting companies.

It is interesting to note, too, that requests for the service have come from Hollywood and Culver City, the motion picture colonies of Los Angeles. Strangely enough, the film centers did not ask to be instructed in making of custard pies but instead wanted a good recipe for onion soup!

Two of Aunt Sammy's talks that have proved widely popular are "Katy Counts Her Calories" and "For Those Who Would Be Slender." Obviously women are as deeply interested as ever in acquiring and keeping sylphlike figures.

In working out her program for the 1927-28 season, Aunt Sammy has assigned a general subject to each day. On Monday she talks on some phase of nutrition; on Tuesday, housekeeping; Wednesday, sewing and home furnishing; Thursday, cooking; and Friday, child health. Thus her talks for a typical week are on "How to Select Meats," "Ironing with the Professional Touch," "Getting the Most from Your Sewing Machine," "Salad Dressings," and "Sandwiches for the School Lunch Box."

Where the Men Come In. The radio service of the department of agriculture is by no means confined to the feature that appeals to women. The men have their innings in the Noon-time Farm Flashes and the United States Radio school, and in a number of special features. Practical and useful information dealing with poultry keeping, dairy, live stock, crops and soils, fruits and vegetables, the farm woodlot, and marketing farm products is disseminated at noon each day in the form of a rapid-fire conversation between a farmer and his county agricultural agent. The Farm School talks are broadcast on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the lessons being presented as popular discussions between modern, practical farmers and trained farm specialists.

Two special monthly programs for this year are the Agricultural Situation Review, to be broadcast on the first Monday of each month, and Farm Playlets. The Review will deal with crops and general current farm conditions as well as the agricultural prospects in the various key regions. Timely farm problems will be dramatized into twenty-minute one-act plays for the Farm Playlets.

On alternate Wednesdays the Weather Man will give a ten minute talk on the ever-popular topic, the weather, and on Saturdays the farm news of the week will be reviewed in the Farw News Digest. The Monday feature will be the Premier for Town Farmers, a ten-minute release that will take up gardening, home beautification, and economy with a town-house slant. Poultry Chats is a new release for Tuesdays and on Fridays there will be a Young Folks program in which "Uncle Abe" will tell stories with farm slants to children of different ages.

In all, 117 representative commercial and agricultural college radio stations are now broadcasting the various features of the department's radio service.

Pennsylvania leads the states in number of stations that are exploiting the service. New York with eight stations is second, and Texas, California, and Missouri are tied for third place with six stations each. Four other states have five stations each; three have four; seven have three; eight have two; while twelve have but one.

Any station that wants it can have all or any feature of the service, and experience has indicated a not inconsiderable rivalry for the service between stations covering the same territory.

heavy investor, but he can afford to lose his money. The rest of us cannot."

"And you?"

"Everything I own is in the plant, Lois. If we went under, I would be worse than bankrupt."

She stroked his thinning hair. "It's going to come out all right, Dad. I'm sure of that. Merriwether is a nasty old man, but he loves money too well to lose what he has already invested. And you've always said that once the new plant is operating as it should, there'll be a real fortune in it for you."

"There is, but that isn't what has worried me. I have been thinking of you, of course. And beyond that, of Bob Terry. I want to do a great deal for him; I want to make up to him, through his future, for the suffering I unwittingly caused in the past. That would be a rather difficult job if what little I have were swept away."

The series of parties got under way last night when the Friendly Girls' club was entertained. This division is for girls of 11 and 12 years of age. Twenty took part in last night's festivities at the welfare house, the program including a supper and treat.

MAY APPROVE SALARY BOOST

New Legislation on Mayor's Pay Possible Tonight.

Prospects that the Wellsville mayor's office will receive a salary increase before the expiration of the terms of the present council loomed today as solons prepared to meet tonight in their final regular session of the year.

The salary ordinance has been up before council twice and on each occasion was voted down although a 4 to 3 ballot favored granting the $300 pay boost.

It was the opinion of solons that the expenditure of money necessitated a two-thirds vote but since last Tuesday's stormy session a new angle, it is reported, has been uncovered. The payment of the mayor's salary, it is claimed, is not a new expenditure and has already been authorized and solons feel they can adjust the rate with a majority count.

Although members of the municipal legislative body have not announced their plans on the measure, it will be possible, if the four to three vote is maintained, for council to change the minutes of the last meeting so that the ordinance will be given a favorable vote and the measure then can be placed on second reading. If this course is taken, an adjourned meeting will be necessary to enact the legislation on third and final reading.

Ohio Power company franchise ordinance probably will be submitted to solons tonight by Mayor Fogo.

CHRIS V. SHOUB, AGED 70, DEAD

Former Wellsville Business Man Succumbs in Mobile, Ala.

Chris V. Shoub, 70 years old, former Wellsville resident and for years intimately connected with the city's activities in business and commercial lines, died Monday at midnight at his home in Mobile, Ala., as a result of a stroke, according to word received yesterday afternoon by Wellsville relatives.

Meagre information reaching here conveyed the impression that the aged man had been, apparently, in good health prior to Saturday when he became ill.

Relatives today were anticipating the arrival of the body on Thursday morning. It will be taken to the home of Mrs. James Buren, of Broadway, a daughter, where funeral services will be held.

Mr. Shoub spent the greater portion of his life here until approximately 17 years ago when he went to Mobile, Alabama.

Prior to his departure he had been engaged in various lines of business in the city. For probably 35 years he operated the Shoub Paint factory in Seventh street. He ultimately became interested in real estate and, leaving Wellsville, became active in the operating of a subdivision in the outskirts of Mobile where he has since lived.

In addition his widow he is survived by the following sons and daughters: C. V. Shoub, Ora and Hazel, in Mobile; Mrs. William Aeckerle, Mrs. James Buren and C. C. Shoub, of Wellsville; Mrs. Roy Stebbins, of Conway; Mrs. Earl Moore and Mrs. Harry Sutton, of Wheeling.

HOMER DURAND FUNERAL HELD IN COSHOCTON

Elks' Memorial Speaker Dies Suddenly.

45 YEARS OLD

East Liverpool Friend Attends Services Today.

Funeral services for Homer C. Durand, 45, attorney and candidate for governor in the 1922 primaries, who died suddenly Saturday, were conducted in his home in Coshocton this afternoon.

Friends from Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Cleveland and from many other parts of the state attended the last rites. James C. B. Beatty, of this city, left last night to attend the services.

Durand enjoyed a wide circle of friends in East Liverpool. He was the speaker at the Elks' memorial services at the Coshocton theatre about two weeks ago. Durand often spoke in East Liverpool during the county and city local option fights 15 and 20 years ago. He sought the Republican nomination for governor on a modification platform in 1922.

He was prominent throughout the state in his defense of those charged with liquor offenses. With E. R. Mills he assisted in the defense of Patrick McDemott, Canton gunman, charged with the slaying of Don Mellett, newspaper publisher, about a year ago.

Durand was born in Toledo and was a graduate of the law school of Ohio State university, Columbus. He had a varied career, being connected with a number of theatrical enterprises following his graduation. He began the study of law with James Glenn, later Coshocton county common pleas judge. He was managing secretary of the Personal Liberty League of Ohio for eight years. He held a like position in Ontario afterwards.

During the war he was an aviation inspector for an Akron rubber company. At the close of the war he returned to Coshocton where he resumed his law practice. Durand was a baseball fan, being one of the organizers of the Eastern Ohio baseball league. He was president of the Coshocton baseball club at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church at Coshocton and was a soloist in the choir. He was also a member of the Elks' lodge. He is survived by his widow and one son.

Christmas with her son in Mexico City and fly there in one of Henry Ford's airplanes from Detroit. Like mother, like son, it seems. The son, after Christmas, will fly to the various countries of Central America, then come home.

TO celebrate Lindbergh's friendly reception in Mexico our government will remove its embargo on shipping airplanes to Mexico and that country will be able to get as many as it may need to hunt rebels, etc. Let's hope the planes sent from our side of the border will not come flying back before we are quite ready for them.

Cleveland-Buffalo route being forced down Monday near Dunkirk, N. Z. in a blinding snowstorm and 44 mile gale. Railroad and traction schedules also were affected by the heavy fall of snow.

Reports reaching here from Erie, Pa., and Evans, N. Y. told of traffic blockades because of heavy drifts following three days of continuous snowfall. Several Ohio motorists were marooned at Evans until a jobbed car, carrying provisions reached them, the reports stated. An unidentified man died in the blizzard at Erie, due to exposure exacerbated by heart trouble, it was said.

An Ashtabula, Cleveland, Conneaut bus arrived here two hours late last night after battling four-foot drifts near Painesville, Ohio.

S-4 Men Doomed

which this afternoon, tonight and probably Wednesday.

Hope is Waning.
PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Dec. 20.—Hope is waning toward the distant horizon astride a lashing gale as six men gasped for breath in the corpse-struck darkness of the "torpedo room" of the sunken S-4 today.

On a there were 40—now there are six. At 6 o'clock this evening there "it be a alive unless a near miracle occurs."

This hour was set by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, of the first naval district, as the latest time they might be sustained aboard by the trapped crew. Seventy-two hours will then have elapsed since the S-4 was rammed by the coast guard cutter Paulding and flung to the bottom off the harbor here.

Last Message From Tomb.
The last message from the tomb of navy steel was a pitiful plea for a word of encouragement.

"Is there any hope?"
The message was sent from the chamber of horror by one of the living six through oscillation communication with the S-4, sister ship of the stricken submarine. The answer: "There is hope—everything possible is being done."

Perhaps the navy lied like officers and comrades. For even while the reply was "blowing a ray of light in to the grave within a grave, 500 men of the rescue fleet chafed in idleness under the fury of the elements."

Ready to Lower Oxygen.
A special drum containing oxygen has been constructed. If the divers can be lowered down to the bottom and keep their air lines from fouling they will attempt to open the outer door of the S-4 torpedo tube and insert the drum. The men within—if they are strong enough—may then open the interior door of the tube and draw in the precious tank of air.

Under favorable conditions, such an operation conducted 162 feet below the ocean's surface is a delicate, dangerous task. The pressure of the water is tremendous and once the outer torpedo tube door is opened, the inner door may burst under the pressure and drum also may be unable to withstand the weight of water.

But it is the last chance—and the boys asked for air.
"We have used our last bottle of oxygen," they pleaded.

Pontoons at Rescue Scene.
However, the air within the torpedo chamber, a compartment 18 feet wide, 36 feet long, and 14 feet deep, is expected by experts to sustain the lives of the surviving six until this evening.

"It is a fair estimate that the supply of oxygen will maintain life until 6 o'clock this afternoon," said Admiral Andrews.

The pontoons on which great hopes of success had rested, are at the rescue scene. They were towed on their errand of mercy from the Brooklyn yard—huge, air filled cylinder drums.

Apparently they have arrived too late. It would take several days, even if the weather permitted, to ease them into position to raise the crippled submarine, according to Lieut. Commander E. Ellsberg, salvage genius.

A high powered wind, with snow and sleet, was predicted for this afternoon. Veterans fishermen have returned in their sturdy boats to carry newspapermen to and from the fleet. A few hardy pilots are making small fortunes in daring the trip.

HONOR MEMORY OF LAWYERS

Bar Association Services Held in Lisbon.

Memorial services for three members of the Columbiana County Bar association, who have died during the last year were held in common pleas court room No. 1, Lisbon, yesterday afternoon.

Judge W. F. Lones presided. The services were for the late J. E. Johnson, New Waterford; John E. Rogers, Salem, and W. G. Wells, formerly of Wellsville.

Attorney L. M. Kyes, East Palestine, read resolutions for Mr. Johnson. He was assisted in the preparation of the resolutions by W. O. Wallace, Columbiana, and W. E. Warren, Leetonia. The memorial committee for Mr. Rogers included Walter Beck, Lisbon; J. C. Boone, and L. P. Metzger, both of Salem.

William McDonald, Wellsville, read the tribute to Judge Wells. His associates on this committee were W. S. Potts, Lisbon and J. H. Brookes, East Liverpool.

Talks were made by N. B. Billingsley, W. M. McDonald, W. O. Wallace, K. L. Coburn, Judges Lones and Lodge Riddle.

Copies of the resolutions were ordered sent to the families of the three deceased members.

PUGH MAY NOT ERECT PLANT

Council Refuses Permission to Use Street.

Council's refusal to grant A. P. Pugh, concrete block manufacturer, a 25-year lease on an unused section of Ohio avenue, near East End, will probably cost the city an industry offering employment to about 25 men, Attorney R. G. Thompson, counsel for Pugh, announced last evening.

Thompson and Pugh visited council for the purpose of making favorable consideration of the request. Because of the absence of Councilman L. M. Pogue, the subject on motion of Councilman Kelly, adjourned until Thursday night, without giving visiting delegations an opportunity to be heard.

Pugh recently purchased a two and one-half acre tract of land between St. George street and Ohio avenue on which he planned to erect a concrete block plant and also to install an electric hoist for the unloading of coal, sand and gravel from barges. He asked the council for a lease on a section of Ohio avenue which has never been opened, and the River road. This land is needed as a site for the hoisting machinery. Council recently tabled the legislation pending "further investigation."

Thompson declared after council adjourned that Pugh had an opportunity to locate in Youngstown.

Kelly, in moving for adjournment until Thursday night, declared that the entire council should be present at the final meeting when voting on the legislation will be considered.

Farrell and Hayes opposed the adjourned session. Solons Goodballer, Kelly, Hughes and Kommel supported the motion.

Deny Slayer Held

of Davis, "nothing can be brought to the defense of the man we now are seeking for this atrocious murder, because a conviction is certain. In event he is apprehended in another state, the state of California will immediately ask for his extradition."

Cline was no less positive in his accusation against Hickman.

"There is no doubt existing," he said, "that we have the archfiend who kidnapped and murdered Marion Parker positively identified. This identification was made all the more certain by one of the school teachers who saw the murderer take little Marion from the school building and escort her to the car on what proved to be her death journey."

Identification Positive.
Both Davis and Cline declared that identification had been made positive by comparison of young Hickman's fingerprints with fingerprints found on various articles connected with the kidnapping and brutal murder of the bankers' little daughter.

Hickman was employed by the Los Angeles First National bank at a salary of $15 a week. He was directly under the orders of Marion Parker's father.

Last June he confessed, police say, to having forged between 30 and 20 small checks, declaring he wanted the money to buy a motorcycle. He was placed on probation by juvenile court authorities.

Parker Opposed Probation.
At the time, however, Parker was said to have been the only official of the bank who protested against probation for the youth. Other officers of the institution sought leniency on the ground that young Hickman was the sole support of a sister.

Hickman, according to police, never forgave Parker for his attitude, and throughout the months that followed, nursed growing feeling of revenge. Unable to injure the banker directly, the brooding youth struck in horrible fashion at the father through a helpless child, according to the police theory.

The Hickman boy is a graduate of a Kansas City high school. After he received probation here, he returned to the Missouri community and in this one step he forged another link in the chain of evidence which police now say they have thrown around him.

Mother Protests Boy's Innocence.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 20.—It's a terrible mistake. My boy never could have done a thing like that."

Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, for whom a search is being made in Los Angeles in connection with the Marion Parker case, vehemently protested her son's innocence here today.

"STOP, LOOK, LISTEN," HIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Congress was asked today to set aside the "stop, look, listen" rule laid down by the venerable Justice Oliver W. Holmes in the Goodman grade crossing damage case.

Justice Holmes ruled that an automobile driver goes on a railroad track virtually at his own risk. As a standard of law, he said, damages could not be collected when it was shown that the driver stopped, looked, listened, and even got out of his car and went upon the track.

Representative Frank Murphy (R) of Steubenville, Ohio, introduced the restrictive bill. It provides that federal courts in such cases shall not adopt a rule contrary to the laws of the state, territory or place where the accident occurred.

ROTARY HOST TO 25 TOTS

Shower of Gifts at Christmas Party at Noon.

Annual Christmas party for 25 crippled children, who have received hospital treatment, was given by the Rotary club in connection with the luncheon meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

The program was featured by seven boys from the Neville school, under the leadership of Miss Pyllis Boyd. Their numbers consisted of chorus selections and instrumental duets and solo numbers. Santa Claus, from the Erlanger store, assisted in entertaining the youngsters.

Candy, fruit and other gifts were showered upon the youthful guests by members of the club. Frank Campbell, chairman of the committee, introduced Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, who presided.

Other special guests included Miss Letitia Wilson of the Ogilvie store, Miss Evelyn Zimmerman of the Crawford & Cochran law office; Miss Eva Washtutzky, assistant Rotary club secretary and Master John Harmon, grand son of Mr. Campbell.

Rev. John L. Maurer, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church, was introduced as a new member. The charge of Father Maurer was delivered by Attorney Cochran. Father Maurer responded briefly.

Prior to the luncheon the children were entertained with a movie in the lobby of the Y. They were brought to the party and returned to their homes afterwards in automobiles furnished by E. G. Sturges and Francis J. Wehner, members of the transportation committee.

There will be no noon meeting of the club next Tuesday. The anniversary meeting will be held Wednesday evening in the new Travelers' hotel, Fourth street, when Jess Pugh, Chicago humorist, will be the entertainer.

POLICE WARN OF BAD CHECKS
Another warning to merchants to beware of fraudulent checks, which are likely to appear during the Christmas shopping season, was issued by Chief of Police McDermott today.

Three checks for $15 each, signed by "W. M. Harris" and made payable to "Charles Harris," were cashed by business men today. They were found to be worthless when they were presented to the banks.

The police had urged merchants to call the banks before cashing checks for strangers.

Pioneer Steel Manufacturer, Millionaire and Friend of President McKinley, Succumbs.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 20.—Joseph G. Butler, Jr., pioneer steel manufacturer and millionaire philanthropist, personal friend of President William McKinley, was dead at his home here today, on the eve of his 87th birthday.

Butler was a playmate of McKinley in Niles, O., and is said to have saved McKinley's life by pulling him from Mosquito creek as he was drowning. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, it was announced today.

Butler was the author of many books, including "Life of McKinley," "First Trip Across the Continent," "First Trip Abroad," "Presidents I Have Seen and Known," "Fifty Years of Iron and Steel," and "Recollections of Men and Events."

He was a member of the industrial commission to France in 1916, and was the originator and president of the Niles McKinley Birthplace Memorial association which built the Niles McKinley memorial at a cost of $300,000 and presented it to the city with an endowment.

Butler was born at Temperance Furnace, Mercer county, Pa., in 1840, and began his career as a bookkeeper at the Niles steel plant in 1857. At the time of his death he was a member of the board of directors of half a dozen industrial concerns and railroads.

Remus Awaits Fate

men may reach a verdict. What it will be their inscrutable faces have failed to indicate.

For weeks they have sat in the jury box, hearing close to a million words of testimony. They have heard the lawyer-defendant's last words in his closing address: "Do your duty. If you feel the defendant should go to the electric chair do not flinch. He will not flinch. A merry Christmas to you all."

They have heard, too, the warning of the prosecutors: "Do not walk this dangerous man out of this courtroom a free man!"

"Merry Christmas" Wish.
Warning the jury that George Remus in his closing address, had "tried the Christmas chimes" in a play upon their emotions, Carl Basler, assistant prosecutor in the state's closing argument, pleaded with the jurors not to walk "this cold blooded murderer" out of the courtroom a free man.

"Remus and his co-counsel did everything but recite 'Jingle, Jingle Bells,'" declared Basler. "Do not be deceived by these tactics, or be swayed by sympathy. Do your duty as men and women."

The lawyer-defendant, who shot his wife, had wished a jury a "Merry Christmas" when he closed his address yesterday, telling them to send him to the electric chair if they thought he had it coming to him.

Basler further accused Remus of having resorted to other devices to play upon the emotions of the jury.

PASTORS ASK BILLY SUNDAY TO COME HERE

Ministerial Association Votes, 11 to 3, for Fall Meetings.

FIVE ABSENT

Three of Larger Churches Not Represented.

By a vote of 11 to 3, members of the Ministerial association at a meeting yesterday approved the recommendation of the evangelistic committee to formally invite Rev. William A. Sunday, baseball player-evangelist, to conduct a six week campaign here next fall.

According to officers of the association five churches in the East Liverpool-Chester-Newell district, which were not represented at the meeting, sent word that they were willing to cooperate in the movement. The others took a stand against the plan.

Three of the larger churches of the city were not represented at the meeting, the pastor of one being out of the city while another congregation is without a pastor at present.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, president of the Ministerial association, declared that the cooperation of about 24 churches in the district was practically assured in the event the meetings were conducted.

The evangelistic committee was instructed to communicate with Rev. Mr. Sunday to determine whether or not he was willing to return to East Liverpool in face of the opposition which has developed. The tentative dates for his campaign here are September 16-October 28.

MRS. LARKINS, 72, WIDOW, DIES

Y., were held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Miller funeral home, in charge of Rev. W. O. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in River view cemetery.

Mrs. Larkins, who was born in Athens county, leaves one son, R. C. Larkins, and one daughter, Mrs. Dunning, both of Schenectady. She is also survived by one brother, Robert Crumley, Jackson, Mich.

"Electricity has added to the wealth of the nation"

Says Hon. Albert C. Ritchie,
Governor of Maryland

*"In your development of cheap power you have added immeasurably to the wealth of the nation; and it is not old wealth taken from others by the process of trade, but new wealth wrung from the treasure house of nature." **

ELECTRICITY has become the most universally useful force the world has ever known. This result has not been obtained merely by converting coal and water into electrical energy. Far-sighted planning, and the success of the principle of individual initiative in the management of power companies are responsible.

The power companies have anticipated the needs for electrical service. They have built power plants and transmission lines in advance of rapidly growing demands. Through interconnected lines an abundance of power has been brought to cities, towns, villages and farms.

Meanwhile the public has accepted electrical service, paving the way for improvements and encouraging the invention and production of a great variety of useful electrical devices. Three million investors own power company securities. Sixteen million homes and one hundred and fifty thousand factories are using electrical service. By continued support of the American principle of individual initiative, and through the use of more labor-saving electrical equipment, the whole public has been benefited by improved service and reduced rates.

The electrical business under individual initiative and government regulation, supported by public acceptance, has increased the wealth, comfort and happiness of the whole nation. The full development of an electrical age can be safeguarded in its future growth by continued support of these principles.

The General Electric is the simple, efficient, quiet refrigerator that gives you perfect refrigeration all year round . . . no matter how warm your kitchen or how cold the weather. Come in today and see the various models in operation.

Outstanding Advantages

SIMPLIFIED—no pipes, no drains, no attachments. Portable—install anywhere. Just plug into nearest outlet and it starts.

QUIET—three feet away you can hardly hear it.

NO SERVICING—never needs oiling or attention. All moving parts are enclosed in an hermetically sealed housing.

ECONOMICAL—uses very little current, and maintains uniform temperature.

CLEAN—the circulation of air through the coils drives dust away from the top of the refrigerator.

To you MY HUSBAND

I'VE quite a feeling about Christmas . . . and so have you. You give me fine trinkets to deck me bravely—all the world may see how handsomely you provide for me. Even the quite unnecessary things.

And I, who see in myself each year a little less of the girl you married, know how futile the brightest trinket is if I cannot match its radiance with my own. For nothing can ever take the place of those things which I am losing, in household duties a little too hard, a little too greedy of my time and strength.

Youth! Sparkle! The time for play and the zest for playing—these are the things I want! Won't you give them to me?

Rickard's Winter Heavyweight Tournament May Be Called Off

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—There appeared to be more than a possibility today that Tex Rickard would declare all bets sold to the rag man on his heavyweight circus this winter and, folding his tent like the Arabs, as silently take it on the flat of his feet out into the night until times are better and saps more plentiful. The sap is supposed to run better in the spring, anyhow, and it is figured that a guy like that might start running toward a box office, not knowing any better. Right now, he seems to be running home every night and the supposition is that he does it to save car fare.

Anyhow, a lot of people appear to be turning up absent every time they have a boxing show in New York and so the good word is that Rickard simply won't tolerate it much longer. It takes plenty of money to pay off a heavyweight and, somehow, the boy friend has gotten out of the habit of using his own.

Therefore, they say he may call off his heavyweight program or whatever may be left of it, until the outdoor season, meaning that the Sharkey-Heeney fight may be due for another ride on the old carousel-around and around. This fight was postponed some weeks ago because Sharkey injured the cuticle on one of his hands very severely. A recent bulletin from Boston carried the information that he had resumed training, which caused so much cheering that it could be heard distinctly in the next room.

The idea all along has been that one postponement or several might be necessary before the populace could work itself up to the point where paying became a pleasure, a state of mind rarely achieved outside of the saloon that used to be on the corner and is now on the second floor rear behind a peep hole and a push button.

At that, the Sharkey-Heeney affair becomes an outdoor shot in the event that the boys adhere to their present plan of tossing Dempsey in with Tunney again without further preamble. Tunney says he will be ready in June for that first championship fight he talks about and a natural smoke-up for that event would be a Sharkey-Heeney fight about five weeks in advance, thus getting the saps well exercised along the beaten track to the main entrance.

Rickard, of course, is not outlining his plans from a soap box at high noon. He has informally scheduled the Sharkey-Heeney fight for early in January and maybe he will see his way clear to go through with it then. But the chances are he won't; that is, not unless there is more local enthusiasm for the proceedings displayed.

The rumor now is that he intends to have the first ticket he sells for the fight framed in a bird's eye maple and hung proudly in a prominent place, exclusive of around his neck. However, that merely is an unsubstantiated rumor, speaking of which recalls the fact that many explain Sharkey's inability to attend the first party by declaring that he was completely ruined by Dempsey last summer and never will be quite the same. In some respects, this might be all for the best, at that.

PITT PANTHERS CLAW IOWA, 44-40

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Dec. 20.—Continuing their triumphant barnstorming tour of midwestern collegiate courts, University of Pittsburgh's sharpshooting basketball team last night added another Big Ten member to their list of victims when they trounced University of Iowa, 44 to 40.

AT BUFFALO:—Freddie Mueller, Buffalo, won decision over Spurr Myers, Idaho (10).

All Chicago Yule Scraps Disappoint

By Gene Hoffman.
CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—The all-Chicago Christmas charity fund was $20,000 richer today after receiving the net profits from last night's boxing show at the coliseum.

The show itself was a two-fold disappointment, first to the promoters who had expected a $80,000 gate instead of the $40,000 one, and secondly to 5,000 spectators who jeered and booed the evening away while 14 alleged fighters milled through 50 rounds of boxing.

Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., junior lightweight, was awarded the decision over Ray Miller of Chicago in an eight round event that was billed as the feature attraction. It was a very disappointing exhibition.

The highlight of the evening was Otto Von Porat's disposal of Ted Sandwina, the German heavyweight. In the second round of the scheduled eight-round semi-final, the Norwegian had his European rival down for a three count in the first round.

Sandwina kissed the canvass twice again in the second round and was caving in at the knees for another collapse when his seconds tossed in the towel. They saw the futility of prolonging the agony. The German was game, but he was no match for the hard-hitting Von Porat. Devastating right crosses to the jaw scored for the Norwegian.

Little wonder the fans booed the windup performance after seeing a couple of giants hammer it out in two rounds. Dundee and Miller couldn't be coaxed into fighting. Dundee tried to fight, but the Chicagoan kept stalling and holding on.

Tony Mandell, of Boston, substituting for Joey Sanzior of Milwaukee, didn't have enough artillery for Benny "Kid" Carter of Phoenix, Arizona. At the end of eight rounds, in the course of which each fighter was on the floor for counts, Carter was given the decision. They weighed 126 pounds.

TORONTOAN WINS LABARBA'S TITLE

TORONTO, Ontario, Dec. 20.—Frenchy Belanger, of this city, today is recognized as the flyweight champion of the world in states under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing association. Belanger gained the right to the title vacated by Fidel La Barba by outpointing Ernie Jarvis of England in a twelve-round bout here last night.

Belanger was floored in the eleventh round, but in the other sessions he was the aggressor and forced the Englishman to the ropes with a furious attack. Frenchy floored Jarvis in the first round. The Englishman fought back harder than ever, and by his rally in the eleventh round cut down Belanger's lead.

Belanger probably will be matched with Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized as champion by the New York state athletic commission.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

Ponies Had Their Day in May

AY, being Derby month, the thoroughbred had his day. And the coveted honor of winning the blue ribbon event of the turf world went to Whiskery, owned by H. P. Whitney. The victory was a surprise to turf followers. E. H. Bradley's entries were favored. Scapa Flow, War Eagle and half a dozen others as well were considered good bets. Whitney's Bostonian, stablemate of Whiskery, had won the Preakness and its $65,000 prize the week preceding, which made the month a banner one for the easterner.

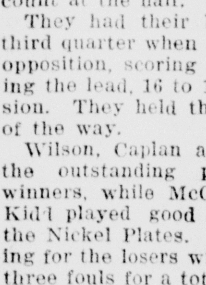

George Souders, Latayette, Ind., youth and former Purdue university student, started the auto world by winning the blue ribbon event of the year at Indianapolis, Memorial day, with the remarkable speed of 97.54 miles per hour. He stopped but twice in the 500 miles.

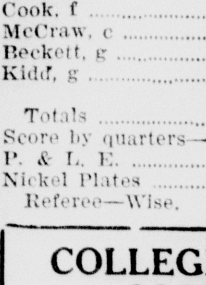

The British amateur golf championship, won by Jesse Sweetser in 1926, went to Dr. W. T. Tweddell, a British physician. Sweetser did not defend his title. The few Americans entered were eliminated early.

Abe Mitchell won the British professional championship, taking the lead in the final round with a 25-yard putt. Chicago had another one of those fights. Bud Taylor getting a doubtful decision over Abe Attell Goldstein in Jules Brounnon winning the doubles. Sabin Carr, Yale pole vaulter, continued to draw the limelight in track athletics by setting a new world's record for the pole vault out doors in clearing the bar at exactly 14 feet in the intercollegiate meet at Philadelphia. Stanford university won the meet. Penn State finished second, Yale third and the University of Southern California fourth.

LIBERTY DUCKS IDLE UNTIL JAN. 2

Announcing a change in the original plans of the league, directors of the Liberty Duck pin circuit today said the opening of the second half has been postponed until January 2. There will be no league games over the holidays.

Game May Be Played Latter Part of Week

Original Date, December 30, to be Changed; Contests With Steubenville Jan. 6 Next on Schedule.

Although local high passers will not plunge into their schedule in earnest until January 6 when they play at Steubenville, the Blue and White squad is keeping in trim with daily workouts in the gymnasium and, as an extra conditioner, will tangle with the Alumni sometime between now and the end of the month.

The contest with the graduates originally was scheduled for Friday night, December 30, but, it is said, may possibly be changed to Friday of this week, giving faculty members an opportunity to get away during the holiday week.

While no definite announcement has been made to this effect, it is entirely possible that the game will be played sometime this week. Both the boys' and the girls' teams will go into action at Steubenville on January 6. The January 7 date is pending. The following week games with Salem and Wellsville are billed, both on the local court.

NEW YORK:—Jimmy McNamara, New York junior lightweight, won decision over Willie Hohn, Brooklyn (6).

$16,000 Suit Filed Follows Bank Crash

Mrs. Eliza W. Porter Names New Cumberland Cashier in Action Over Bonds.

Alleging that a number of bonds belonging to her have been illegally withheld and disposed of, Mrs. Eliza W. Porter of New Cumberland yesterday entered suit for $16,000 against James E. Brandon Jr., cashier of the First National bank of New Cumberland and the National Bank of West Virginia. The action was filed in the Ohio county circuit court at Wheeling.

Mrs. Porter is represented by the law firm of Ramsey & Wilkin of Wellsburg. In the declaration filed with the praecipe it is alleged that Mrs. Porter had left her bonds in the custody of the New Cumberland bank and that James E. Brandon, its cashier, without her knowledge or consent, deposited these bonds with the National Bank of West Virginia at Wheeling as collateral on a loan.

Mrs. Porter it was said demanded that the defendants in the suit return her bonds and had been refused. The first papers in the action were filed several days ago in the office of the Circuit Clerk, L. L. Nightengale, but were not made public since service had not been obtained on Brandon until yesterday.

James E. Brandon Jr. and John A. Brandon on Saturday were held on $5,000 bond each before United States Commissioner J. W. Kindelberger to the May term of the district court at Wheeling on charges of making false statements as to bank conditions. Both furnished bonds and were released.

Examiner Graham is in charge of the New Cumberland banking institution which has been closed for several weeks.

The bonds involved in the damage suit are Hancock county bridge bonds.
